

Joint CUHK- NTEC Clinical Research Ethics Committee
Investigator's Conflict of Interest Declaration Form

Public trust in a clinical research depends partly on how well conflict of interest is handled during its operation. An investigator who has potential conflicting interest with a commercial entity related to this study must inform the Research Ethics Committee (REC)/Institutional Review Board (IRB) of such relationships to allow a fair review to be conducted.

All investigators involving in the study must each submit a conflict of interest declaration record to the Cluster REC/IRB.
